

Lab Assignment -IO

Q1.You are given two file file1.txt and file2.txt copy the file1.txt data in a file2.txt file

Q2.Create a folder Name it as company and store a file in it name it as basicInfo.txt which has following information “welcome to the company”.Read the file and display the data in it.

Q3.Write a program that accept a filename as a command Line argument and check whether it exist or not.if it exists and is an ordinary file display its name,parent,path,last modified date and time and length.if it is a directory file display its contents.

Q4.Write a program that accepts a friends name ,searches in the the file created above and display its address and phone number.if the record is not found display appropriate error message

Q.5.Write a program that accepts a directory name as command Line argument and count the number of alphabets from a to z in that file

Q.6 Write a program that accepts a directory name and delete its contents and sub contents

Q7.Write a program that accepts a directory name and change all its contents to read only mode.

Q8. Write a Java program to read contents from a file into byte array.

Q9.Write a java program to get list of all .txt files from the folder and to read the content from one of the file and also write the string data to the file.While getting the list files should also throw exception for the files which are unavailable.

Q10.Write a program to store the details of employee as id,name,salary.desg and date_Of_Joining.Perform the serialization on the Employee class and also read the data from the serialized file.

@Note-please don't provide the file name for storing serialized data.